Discussion Questions

1. What ideas does thinking supernaturally begin with? Of what seemingly simple truths must we be assured?
2. What does Rabbi mean when he uses the word “supernatural”? Is he referring in this teaching to the public, visual presentation of the power of God?
3. Read and write about John 20:29. How does this relate to the mystery of Colossians 1:27 and the God who inhabits us, rather than visits us?
4. Is our relationship with God predicated upon and prospered mainly by supernatural signs and wonders? How are the people of Israel in the Old Testament examples?
5. What should be the focus for growth in our own lives? (Luke 17:21)
6. How can we think supernaturally in such a dark world? What are we dependent upon God for? Of what must we also be convinced?
